1. two-page report on Soviet military installations in and near Fuerstenwalde. The report gives information on the manpower and equipment of the Reiter and Pionier Kasernen, and general information on engineer, artillery, signal, and medical units as well as the Ketchendorf ammunition storage area. The locations of installations and equipment in the area are shown on a map which is included.

2. Paragraph 6 of the report is given in full below:

Mars La Tour Kaserne (500 meters northwest of the Fuerstenwalde-Rauen road).

A Soviet artillery unit with a strength of approximately 500 to 800 men was located in the Mars La Tour Kaserne. The unit included one brigade with atomic artillery weapons (caliber, approximately 28 cm.). Twelve atomic artillery weapons were seen in October 1956. It was presumed that the cannons [atomic artillery weapons] were hidden in the wooded area south of the Mars La Tour Kaserne. the weapons were atomic cannons when questioned. The cannons were transported on triple-axled platforms which were hooked to heavy tractors (Zugmaschine). [Atomic] ammunition trucks with three removable containers [were also seen]. The trucks had two special signs, a red circle and a triangle, on the last container. (See sketches on Page 2.)
